Getting to know Mr Misra...

Mr Misra absolutely loves working with children and the daily interactions with them and their families makes his day.

To be an advocate for infants and children who cannot fight their own corner is a privilege to him.

The feedback that the little ones or their families give him has been one of the driving forces in his quest for excellence.

Married and a father of two children, he has lived in London for decades.

He is an avid sailor and advanced Scuba diver - please feel free to peruse his gallery to see the pictures of diving with sharks or doing the night sail from Morocco to Spain.

Golf is another addiction and he plays regularly twice a week.

He relishes challenging cases- many of the patients he gets from abroad have been operated several times before

At most private hospitals where he works, the nursing staff compliment him on 2 things in particular- small incisions and exceptional operating speed, without compromising safety.

Smaller incisions mean smaller scars and faster operating time means shorter anesthesia which results in reduced post operative complications.

Now that you are here, why not explore this website and see how his consultation services (private healthcare) can be of assistance to you and your family's well-being in a child friendly and relaxed environment.
